

The Art of Presenting

Your Support for:

- Sales Presentations
- Department Reporting
- International Teams
- Presenting in English
- Preparing for a New Position/Job

Get the support you need and win the complete attention of your public with your new style! In front of others you will appear relaxed and sovereign. You will be able to deliver complex topics and ideas more clearly and directly. Your slides and materials will have that special, professional look to them. By learning how to decrease those things which increase anxiety and by strengthening your communication style, you increase your own self confidence.

We will work together to first determine your goals in the presentation, then to strengthen the strategy. You will have several chances to practice and we can use modern techniques with video if you choose.

Make your presentation one which leaves a lasting impression on your audience!

About the Trainer

Since 2001, I've been a coach and trainer for soft skills and work with private clients as well as managers in companies helping them to strengthen their speaking and presentation skills. I work in small and mid-sized companies in Germany as well as large, international companies in the U.S.A. and Europe. As industry lobbyist and public relations manager in the U.S., I was often invited to appear on television and in radio. My experience as presenter spans groups of 10 to several hundred. My focus is to support you so that you feel relaxed during your presentation and that you communicate effectively and clearly. I am a U.S. citizen and have lived and worked in Germany since 1996 and speak fluent German.
