Native English and Fluent German

You can be assured your total language needs will be met. I am a U.S. American, native English speaker and have been living and working in Germany since 1996. I speak fluent German and often coach and train in German. I am a professional and have owned my own business here in Germany since 1996 and before that in the USA. I've been a frequent guest on radio and TV and have made public presentations to groups of ten and groups of several hundred. The work with my present clients brings me into the training rooms of large, international corporations as well as small, family-owned and mid-sized companies. I enjoy supporting business men and women so they can be their very best in front of their clients, suppliers, colleagues and bosses. For more information, please visit my website:
